INSIDE THE EPOCH

IT TAKES ALL KINDS. Just about everybody has a variety of friends, yet they all live their lives their own way.

NOT ABOUT TO GIVE IN. Many of our athletes learn to avercome the obstacles of different sports by reaching for their highest goals.

GROWING BIGGER. The amount of participation each individual puts into their own organization increases with the satisfaction they get out of their activity.

NO STRINGS ATTACHED. Willing to investigate the unknown, many students teach themselves that learning is a free process.

THEBEGINNING OF SOMETHING NEW

Wherever you look there is constantly the beginning of something new, Preparation and making the most of your efforts seems to be an important ingredient in building a solid foundation for future progress. For many people, a new beginning is a chance to make decisions and be aware of all the possiblities offered with a fresh start. From the beginning, dreams become reality, ideas are constantly being put into motion, but most of all just getting started is a step in the right direction.

STARTING POINT, Many students find that this early in the marning just getting off the bus is a step in the right direction.

TAKING A BREATHER. After school people begin to go their own way in order to breakaway from the monotony of the six hour day.

GIVE IT A CHANCE, It didn't stort out to be a "mosterpiece", but Crystal Griffith finds that for imagination to grow it has to start somewhere.

THE DAY BELONGS TO YOU, in the light of the rising sun everyone, including a horse, may share the freedom that starts with the quiet of the morning.

SPIRIT HAS TO START SOMEWHERE. Before the opening kick-off, Bunny Randall gives all she can to get the show on the road.

EVERY MOMENT COUNTS, from the moment they start warming up until they make the winning pin, these wrestlers are constantly preparing themselves for the next move.

St. Patrick's spires symbolized new hope to European immigrants searching for a better way of life in America. Even though there are no spires reaching to heaven, St. Manica's represents the beauty of modern day architecture.

By charting the progression of our country through two hundred years, we pay tribute to the growth and development that provides a constant change for many Americans. The modernized churches are a good example of the more conservative designed buildings of today, rather than the elaborately styled architecture of days gone by. Back when recreational activities were limited, families would gather together and participate in their favorite pastimes. Yet today's athletic events and recreational activities are so numerous and varying that almost everyone may do their own thing with fun and with flair. A most noticeable change that has been evolving through the years, is that of women's participation in the field of athletics. The idea of the female being the weaker of the sexes is constantly getting dimmer.

The fashions of the two hundred years have also advanced quite far to the up-to-date fads of today's generation. Jeans and bib overalls have replaced knickers and knee high stockings; no longer do people wear silver buckled shoes but the high-stepping platform footwear dominates todays feet; and only on special occasions are the long full length gowns that were common in those days, worn by today's modern woman.

In the area of transportation, Americans have observed the birth of many new ideas and watched how these ideas have benefited their way of life. In the beginning the horse was the main made of transportation, but soon there were stage coaches and covered wagons carrying men, women and children into new and various frontiers. Next tracks were laid and roads were paved to make way for the "tranhorse" and "horseless carriage." Then came the airplane and man is now exploring the frontier of outer space.

Billiards was a popular and respectable diversion for the whole family. Scatt Heppe and friends find that playing air hockey is a great way to spend an evening. Actually, getting together and having fun is still the main idea behind all recreational activities which have advanced only for the better.

American tadies danned the high wasted gowns of the Directione and Napoleonic periods and gentlemen began to accept high hats of silk and long trouvers. What a change van Cannan and Kell Roach display the frequently seen style the comfortable and now popular below the knee dress.

With an Eye Toward the Old

Henry Ford's first car had a two cy hadr gaso ne engine developing four horsepower and went forward but not backwards. The world has progressed considerably when I comes to transportation! Running along these lines the MC B has a four cy inderengine with a four speed manual transmission. It's a car anyone twouldn't mind having

August 27th brought with it more than just the slamming and jamming of locker doors, but also the begin ning of the action-packed months ahead. Soon everybody became acquainted with the razzle-dazzle that goes hand-in-hand with the events of the first semester. The first stop on the calendar of events highlighted the fall season. This well-planned Homecoming week ended with the student body urging the Red Roider Machine onto victory

Ready for the unexpected, people found themselves beating their brains out at practice, selling an unusual variety of items (like recycled trash) and working on into the wee hours of the night to finish yesterday's assignment. ### The Good Times Made Better

From the first day you enter E.P.C.H.S., your own personal student life begins. Everyone's life is different, yet we all have one trait in common. We are continuously growing and progressing with every little detail or happening we come in contact with. Whether it be traditional events like. Homecoming, the play, or graduation, or maybe the more informal activities such as dances, eating lunch, or co-ed P.E. These are all individual events that highlight your own personal student life.

Except for those who were recovering from the first semester and those who were preparing for the second time around, the semester dance provided a hight of both fast dance and good music.

Representing the junior class, Jill Phillips accepts the trophy to the winning Homecoming float, marking the at the achievements at her class.

Summer is . . . a three month probation (but then there's summer school)...camping outdoors (among swarms of mosquitoes!) . . . lots of outdoor activities (like mowing the lown!) . . . cooling off with a swim water-logged (with twenty gallons of chlorinel) . . . moonlight walks (couldn't you have

The Last of the Good Ole' Days

Anyone who bought last year's EPoCH could be found standing around in the commons autographing yearbacks at the EPoCH porty

"I dropped it in the fishbowl . . . ."

"I laid it on my dresser last night, maybe the cockroaches got it . . . .

"I got mugged and they ripped it off

If you've heard one excuse, you've heard them all. These are just some of the reasons that many students came up with for not having their receipts. Needless to say, the staff was quite amused, but no one received a yearbook without having that "precious" little slip of paper. After a long wait in line, students who received their yearbooks hurried to collect graffith written by many of their friends . . . with no space left unsigned, students leafed impatiently through the books, searching the pages for their mug shots.

The EPoCH staff hands out last year a best seller to the people who made it that way

Really bent on studying the yearbook, Bill Hart and Both York thumb through the EPoCH.

THE RISE OF FALL

After the numerous activities of summer, students adjust to a slower pace with the coming of fall. Indian summer brings spurts of energy as seen in homecoming activities, foatball games and hayrack rides. Falling leaves add the last bit of color to the landscape before winter's hibernation.

IN THE MOVIE BUSINESS THEY SURE DON'T MAKE ACTION LIKE THIS ANYMORE.

Student Council helped to make this year's Homecoming more existing than before by sponsoring such activities as the Volkswagen Push, an Abbott and Costella movie and "Spirit Walls" for all four classes. Students got a chance to display their acting tolents as "Cowboys and Indians Day" and "Celebrity Day" carried out the theme "Now Playing." The student body saw another kind of acting talent at the Gymnostics Assembly on Thursday, October 9th and at the Variety Show when the Homecoming Royalty provided the entertainment when names were announced.

Blinded by the raging snowstorm, these students fight 4 out.

Hearts yielded to the spirit of the Christmas season as rooms were cheer fully decorated and students partici pated in the Red Stocking drive. Everyone celebrated in special ways; Lockers were decorated. Student Council members trimmed the tree by the auditorium fayer, and traditional Madrigal dinners were presented. Making up for our lack of Christmas snow, we received a heavy snawfall the day before Thanksgiving vacation which obliterated the entire Midwest with over seven inches The winter wonderland we enjoyed was lacking in snow but was created by ice that covered not only landscape but also buildings, At school, students were not to be outdone in decorating; the EPOCH, Student Council, and Art rooms had painted holiday scenes, a Home Ec. room door resembled a grant present, and administration offices were adorned accordingly. The winter sports of basketball, volleyball, and wrestling drew the spectators that observed football, cross-country, and tennis in the fa-

It's almost like homecoming the second time around . . . almost. There were special days in observance of Homelycoming during the week. The first was hidden number's day, when student council members hid Indian heads throughout the school which could be redeemed for a prize at the dance. Next came inside-out backwards day, followed by Greaser day. Students came up with some pretty strange outfits on both of these days! For the last day of the week different colored carnations were bought in the cafeteria fayer. "Olympics" were held after school for the during teams formed from each class. A huge crowd gathered to watch and cheer their class members on, after competing in difficult, fun and unusual events. The Senior class came out on top. To complete the week's activities, "Addison Grace" performed at the dance along with the crowning of the lovely legs royalty.

"See How They Run"—A Smash Hit

This year's farce of the season "See How They Run" by Samuel French was indeed a great success. After long, hot grueling practices after school, on Saturdays and over Easter vacation the payoff of satisfaction for each member of the cast proved that all the work was indeed well worth the effort. It was worth memorizing lines, getting covered with grease paint, missing dinner, turning in homework late, and staying up till all hours of the night. At times, it was doubtful whether the production would ever come through with members forgetting lines, missing cues, and laughing hysterically as the director looked on, tearing her hair out, and muttering obscenities under her breath. Finally the line came, cues were taken and nobody laughed (when they weren't supposed to.)

If You Got the Time

As we take a closer look, we realize that organizations play an important part in our lives as well as the lives of others. When clubs first began forming in the fall, they each started planning a schedule of activities for their organization to follow in the school year ahead. One by one the activities passed by on the calendar of events. Some were successes and yet others were failures. But each of the well planned activities served the purpose of benefitting us and giving us a chance to do our own thing.

Student Council

Leaders of the Pack", Pat Waldon, Treas.; Jim White, Vice-Pres.; Gina Corrol, Pres.; and Elaine Trumble, Sec., worked hard conducting meetings and kept things terms.

Looking forward to more involvement and better communications between the student body and administration, Student Council stressed student rights and responsibilities this year. After school meetings were open to the student body, the Council worked towards keeping good relationships open with the administration in such things as a better method for semester exams.

New committees were formed to cover every facet of dealing with the community and the school Social Committee was in charge of Home-coming and Homelycoming activities, assemblies, Donkey Basketball, and the Freshmen Mixer and other dances, Community Relations handled all charity work like the Canned Food Drive and the St. Jude

March, and set up a schedule for visiting Zeller Zone Center Elections and Registration supervised student voting and registration. Publicity Committee did all the artwork needed for publicity of various events.

Student Advisory was formed in order that a representative from each club or organization could attend monthly meetings for better relations

Student Rights and Responsibilities committee strove for a good system of communications at school and sent Council members to attend School Board and City Council meetings

Student Council has a right to be proud of their accomplishments not only in their own school but throughout the Central Illinois area

Senior member Amy Kalb, Chairman of Social Committee, is the one to be thanked for Dankey basketball, Homecoming, Homerycoming and other dances. Without her hard work and time these activities wouldn't be possible.

Kike loves music and especially enjoyed the Caterpillar Charus production of "Oklahoma!" Kike considered it rewarding to serve on Student Council and take part in our first A.F.S. Club. After graduation, Kike plans to return to Spain where he will study economics at the University of Santiago

Looking Into House of Representatives

This year was finally an active one for the House of Representatives. The club consists of students who shared an interest in school affairs. The members played an important part in improving the school communications between the student body and Student Council and the students and teachers. The House worked along with Student Council in planning school activities such as the Freshman Orientation and Mixer, the Homecoming Parade, Red Stocking Drive, Walk for Mankind and other fund-raising projects.

Girls that are especially enthusiastic about GAA can run for board offices. These afficers plan the numerous activities for all members. A yearly banquet is held with awards given to girls excelling in the chosen areas of participation. GAA came in a close second for the winning float in the parade

Orchesis

During the Spring Concert, Kim Hulva begins her climb on the "Stainway to Heaven"

Did you see some strange sights this year; such as girls feaping, sliding, and doing "weird" movements across the floor? No they weren't going bananas, it was all just a part of practicing modern dance routines for the Orchesis Concert which was held March 19 and 20

Composed of 55 members, the girls had a lot of fun this year at their Christmas party where gifts were exchanged. They found satisfaction in all the hard work put into practices held after school throughout the year. Plenty of work and planning went into presenting a successful concert, followed later in the year with a Spring Banquet

Becky Gould raises her hands to the sky durng her dance to Band on the Run

With the many different kinds of movements and gestures that are expected of Oschesis members, it is important that they exercise and practice at least two nights a week

EPoCH Staff and Photographers Get It Together

Learning the Inclus of the Irade, Danita Moore watches as Gory Witt examines her work

At the orientation meeting the assembled EPoCH staff got ocquainted with their positions, but throughout the year they juggled those duties to keep up with the continual flow of deadlines they had to meet. The art editor might be found taking pictures, student life editor writing copy, the editor-in-chief learning darkroom techniques. By the end of the last deadline the pages of the yearbook find themselves mysteriously complete, forming EPoCH '76. Assisting the staff are the photographers. If anyone should happen to pass by E.P.C.H.S. during a school day they would probably stop and stare in amazement at an occasional person hanging from a tree, crawling under bleochers, or even clamboring on top of tables. Passing under an 1-74 overpass an odd figure could be seen, apparently surveying the countryside. The photographers are always striving for a more ingenious and imaginative picture.

All lined up, POWWOW staff proofmads their work

The POWWOW, with eleven first class citations and two All-American Awards to its credit since 1962, achieved another excellent publications year under Editor-in-Chief Jim Johnson, who was, incidentally, EP's only National Merit Scholarship candidate this year. Amy Kolb, Pat Waldon, Rose Horsley, and Tim Johnston offered valuable senior help, Juniors who contributed much were Angela Hannah, Pat Murphy, and Baine Trumble. Sophomore Mario Saltarelli headed the proof editors' group. Mario also compiled and edited material for "Powwow Style", a booklet containing rules of sentence structure, punctuation, and newswriting. Jeff Reid headed the photography staff. Journalism class members served as reporters for dubs and classroom activities

We Are Ready FSA, FTA, and FHA Future in the Making

As Pres. Lee Ann German asks for nominations, secretary Debbie Janes tells of each nominee is contribution to the club

FSA was kept on the go this year. The secretaries-to-be held their meetings at different business organizations to learn about different office facilities, how they are used, and what duties are associated with certain office jobs. The group visited Caterpillar (Mossville plants), Tazewell Savings and Loan WRAL TV and the Peorla Journal Star This year was truly an educational one for the Future Secretaries Association. Another busy club of 1976 was FHA. They held several meetings this year planning and doing for act villes. A bake sole was held at Sheridan Viltage, and bowling at East Peoria's Bowlaire was done not ong after the Christmas party. Trips to "Old Chicago", a Sweetheart dance, and a trip to St. Louis were some of the future events of the future "domestic artists."

Keeping the atmosphere light and humarous, Vice-Pres. Ruth Pennack confidently takes the podium.

The Excitement Never Ends

Teams are picked in preparation for a soccer game, which was just one of many activities that the German Club members could have fun participating in at the fall picnic held at Fandulac Park

German Club brings good food and new friends. Frau Johnson, the club advisor, has influenced many German students to participate enthusiastically in selling Gummi Bears, Softi Chews, and Eurodollars all year long The money is then used towards scholarships.

The members also enjoyed a foll picnic, a hayrack ride in October, a roller-skating party, and especially the Christmas dinner at the Barn. They finished the year with their annual German Fest. Parents were invited to this potluck event where everyone got the chance to dance to lively polkas. Frau Johnson also enjoyed herself and she added that she likes to work with brilhant, enterprising, and hardworking students year after year.

Trying to decide what to eat, German Club members dig into a delightful Oristmas dinner during the annually held Christmas Party

French Club: Worth Every Minute

Instead of entering a float, French Club marched their way towards the Emerald City in the Homecoming parade as characters from the Wizard of French Club members began the year with a pot-luck, where they got better acquainted. Involvement in homecoming activities gave the members of French Club their first chance to become active in school projects. Along with their Laurel and Hardy skit in the Vanety Show, they entered an original "float" in the homecoming parade as the members dressed like the Wizard of Oz characters. Not to be left out of the Noel festivities, the French Club gathered at Madame Stakes's house for their Christmas Party and a demonstration on "How to make a Bouche de Noel" (French yule log)

Once again, the club's money-making projects of selling perfume and candy were a big success. Another highlight of the year was a slide presentation of France. Like many other organizations, French Club worked concession stands during ballgames. They completed the year with a spring banquet where they served French dishes (foods) and a picnic for the election of new officers

'This is how we made it' could be the title for this activity. Meals were prepared by each person and brought to Mrs. Stokes's house for a polluck dina Afterwards a booklet was prepared with all the recipes for these tasty dishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Stakes present a sure fire cure for heart burn after their delicious meal of French dishes that some of the French club members prepared. Thanks to the Stokes there is always a place to hold meetings. and other activities

Latin Is Not Dead It Is Immortal

Keeping her enthus asm at its peak is Pres. Monica Schmitt's secret for keeping the members interested and intormed.

Having fun is important too, and at every Latin.
Club activity that's all that's important.

With a look of intent concentration on their faces, Latin Club members decide on a date for their upcoming activity

Latin Club, one of the largest clubs at EPCHS, participated in many activities throughout the year. They began with a Freshman Initiation Weiner Roast. At this event, the new members were "slaves" to the veterans. The Christmas party got all the members in the Christmas mood as they sang carols in Latin and drank "Pomegranate Punch," Bowling, originally a Roman game, was popular in the club. The highlight of the year was the Roman banquet where all members dressed in togas in commemeration of the early days of Rome. All these activities were planned with the help of the advisor "Magistra" Fulton, whose concern for the students and Latin culture keeps the club going. Latin Club gets more and more popular from year to year. Crescit eundo, "

Speech Club and Debaters Talk Their Way Through Another Year

But first a word from our spansor. Debater Debbie Legge practices her rebuttal for the Debate tournament coming up

With the assistance of Mr. League, senior Randy Cheek searches for evidence which will be used in an up-coming debate.

Freshmen Speech Club members learn that Speech Club is everything its cracked up to be as they look for evidence in preparation of their speeches

The members of EPCHS's Speech Club have the fastest lips in the West, These silvertongued speakers compete in many contests in and out of central Illinois. They have been most successful at Manuel, Northern, Richwoods, Bradley, and Thorton, Debaters did not compete at Bloomington High School or Freepart, although other groups of Speech Club did, Sectionals began in March after District finals. The state tournament was the conclusion to a busy year which began the summer of '75. During the summer, Debaters went to workshops to improve their rebuttals. The dub had a spring awards banquet, funded by the selling of condy bors and membership dues. Mr. Koch and Mr. League, the club advisors, believe that public speaking is very important to the educational experience and self-fulfillment of the student.

MARCHING BAND DOESN'T JUST MARCH THEY YELL DANCE

Get ready, get ready, holt, one, two

Before kids are ever thinking of school, the Marching Red Raiders take to the field to prepare for the fall season of football games, parades and competitions. A lot of time, hard work, and outstanding group effort make our band one of the best in the state. How would you like to stand at attention for ten minutes in 90 degree weather with a bee on your hom's sec and valve? The people in the stands never see the sweat covered bodies, the mud streaked pants, or the expressions of agony on the marchers' faces. All they see is the precision-drilled product on the field

KEEP THE BEAT

LOOK SEXY

Scott Behrends drums up the beat for the rest of the band.

Madrigals and Nine Strings

While performing in their make-believe castle, medieval lards and tackes sing the traditions of Merne Olde England.

"Tonight, as we lift our glasses in a toast to the Christmas season, we greet our old friends and we welcome our new ones upon this accasion." These words introduced the audience to the sixth annual Madrigal Dinner Concert, the re-enacting of medieval lords and ladies who gathered in their castle to observe the traditional Christmas festivities of Merrie Olde England.

Starting with rehearsals a week before school began, the Madrigal singers set out to memorize approximately twenty-five songs, get their costumes fitted and "get into" the character of nobility.

The Madrigal performers gave extra performances this year as they not only performed three in a row for students, and once for faculty, American Business Women, and St. Monica's Parish, but also found time to go to contest.

In one of their more senious moments, jesters Randy Douglas and Jill Miller read the Christ story from the ancient scrall.

They say practice makes perfect and that's what they did. After school in the commans, the Madrigals and jesters practiced and practiced and their performances showed it.

Singin' and Stringin'

This unique ensemble was formed in 1971 primarily as a means of recruiting junior high school string players to audition for the EPCHS orchestra. The group is made up of the top two chairs of each section, determined through an audition each year from the school's concert orchestra. Often the individual parts divide, placing a great deal of responsibility on the individual Because of the absence of a conductor, the students must learn to listen to each other and the total sound, so as to stay together without any visual signs or beats. The group entertained at many different functions in East Peoria, at EPCHS and in the surrounding communities

Keynotes Bring Back That Old "Broadway" Feeling

A week before school started, eager students practiced in hopes of becoming a member of E.P.'s swing choir, the Keynotes. Although there were only two returing veterons, the young group of singers had help getting it all together at a workshop with the Newcomers, a swing chair from W.I.U. After becoming a part of the group, members realized that practicing three times a week was necessary in maintaining their high quality performances.

Keynotes performed not only at school functions but also throughout the community. Besides accasional performances at the choir concerts, the swing choir also participated in the Variety Show and the spaghetti supper in February. Off-campus, they sang before church organizations and at nursing homes. Along with other central Illinois high schools, the Keynotes took part in the state sale and ensemble competition at Illinois Central College.

Chess Club: Competitive Concentration

Chess is a game of pahence and concentration, a challenge for the few who want to test their skills of logic and strategy

The East Pearla Chess Club was set up this year to provide interested students the apportunity to play chess and practice these skills.

The club also sponsored an all-school chess tournament, which was won by one of the members, Bill Hounshell. The club took part in interscholastic competition with other schools in the area.

Challenging other members builds concentration for future competition

Taking time to relax, Bill Hourshell, John Studiy, Dan Son, and Dan Oesch display a large version of the chessboard

Art Is Beautiful and Art Club Keeps It Movin'

Art Club completed a variety of projects throughout the school and community this year. A few of these contributions were the mural in the Student Commons which was finished just in time for the EPoCH party last summer, scenery for the Madrigal Dinner Concerts this past Christmas, the backdrop for the Winter and Spring band concerts, and pennants of the Mid-State-Nine teams on the football field. A wall mural for the first floor of "A" building was also designed by these talented students. Club members collaborated with the House of Representatives for a mural on a building at the four corners in downtown East Pearla, Posters were made for the Homecoming alumni, Library Week, and several bicentennial celebrations. There is evidence everywhere of the many contributions by Art Club throughout the yeor

It laaks as if her job was effortless, but Debbie Claricknows it takes time and occuracy to get the work. Just right

Remembering a job well done, Art Club will probably never forget the Student Common's mural which really brought their talents in view

More Than Just 'Fun and Games' Chemistry Club Plans Ahead

Chemistry Club kept busy this year! Their activities can the gamut from a picnic to a field trip to the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry and the John G. Shedd Aquarium.

The year began with a hayrack ride and weiner roast at Timberline Park, then, progressed to a clean up of the school grounds along with the Environmental branch of Chemistry Club, There were festivities over Christmas at the club president's house (he probably hasn't recovered yet)

To make future trips to Chrcago and St. Louis possible, the club sold candy bars to the many eager students at East Peoria.

Ideas pouring in, each person gives his views offer catching the enthusiasm of the other members

Putting their heads tagether, Chemistry Club members decide on the most excring, yet economical activities.

As problems anse, Pres. Rick Wanner must keep his sense of humor and unfailing tact

Focusing on Films

Had you've been passing room 322A on a humid day in the afternoon in September you would've heard a conversation similar to this:

"Let's go to New York."

"Do we have any money?"

"How'll we get there?"

"Let's wolk."

Film Club is not known for its practicality, levelheadedness, or sensability. But somehow they manage to provide a creditable showing of movies for a variety of personal tastes throughout the school

Lecturing on the evils of money, Tim Johnston asks for ideas on charity projects

Getting Tuned In

Radio Club is probably one of the least known of the clubs at E.P.C.H.S. This is truly surprising considering they're a bunch of "hams." The following might have been a conversation between an old club member and a new member before he was added to the proud radio family.

"We can send and receive transmissions from all over the world."

"Really?"

"Well . . . would you believe Canton?"

A glistening 170 foot tower was erected to compensate for their growing needs. With this tower they can (hopefully) transmit to other countries.

Then for an even greater sensation of excitement, the club visited Channel 47 to observe advanced techniques in broadcasting. Congratulations to Radio Club for a very successful year.

Hitting the Books

When speaking of progress, the idea of learning is closely related. Class rooms are forever changing from the original teaching techniques to newer methods like co-op or individualized instruction. The type of courses taught are also expanding to new and various areas of study. Now instead of math, English and science, students may study electricity, business communications, or even something as far out as astronomy. Also accompanying the new and various ideas in academics are the relationships that the teachers and students share that have become more understanding, thus creating a better atmosphere for learning

Covering an important topic in U.S. History, Mr. Sanders gets the discussion going with an introductory speech on the 1890 s. In this particular class the assignment is planned out for the entire year. Three essay questions are assigned each week on the period of history being studied.

Roger Higdon begins making his next six weeks' project by using a radial arm saw, one of the machines available to those who take an industrial education class.

NO JOB TOO BIG FOR EP BUSINESS STUDENTS

Practicing for when they have jobs, third hour shorthand lakes a caffee break

Sleve Kunts Richard Comp and Kevin Milier catch their breath between limings in personal typing

Preparing for the business world, many students acquire much needed skills in busmess courses offered here at EPCHS. Typing and shorthand are essential tools in any secretarial job or one that requires these skills. Accounting and business machines classes help to prepare students for college classes in these courses for jobs as bookkeepers or accountants. Business communications (or business English) and speech assist students in grammar and communication to get their ideas across to one another clearly and effectively. If you are business minded and desire a wellpaying job, get involved in business courses for success in your chosen field.

in personal typing you learn many things, including the proper way to fold a paper in hait

The courses of sciences offered this year has been expanded. Advanced individualized biology is one of the new programs that students can participate in. This class specializes in the study of different facets of zoology

The SEC (Students for Environmental Concern) was formed for those who are especially interested in taking an active part in preserving the outdoors. Members recycled paper, planted trees, cleaned up the school grounds, and enjoyed outings in the woods Along with these new innovations the regular Physics, Chemistry, Earth Science, Biology, and General Studies classes were available

Some of the students at E.P.C.H.S. may be following in the footsteps of the most famous chefs and fashion designers of our time. # YOU SHOULD HEAR WHAT THEY'RE SAYING IN FRENCH!

Where else do you get to taste cafe au last, homemade bread or fondue besides in Home Ec? Taking a break from the routine of French classes, students got to sample a little of French culture. While first year students learned the basics of reading, writing, speaking, and listening to the French language, second year French reinforced these skills. Students taking third and fourth year read extensively as they studied culture and civilization. During all four years, conversation was stressed as the students were compelled to ask their questrons and converse only in the French language.

Latin class is definitely an unforgettable expenence to all Latin "scholars". The first shock for beginning students is having the privilege of singing "Mica, Mica Parva Stella." Classes not only involve translating and learning about ancient Roman history, but it also teaches about different parts of speech (gulp) and helps build vocabulary (what's that?) knowledge. Since many other languages are derived from Latin, it is also beneficial in other subjects (native English).

Getting their cy inde block together is the goal of these dedicated mechanics

The industrial education students of today will be the technicians, draftsmen, and builders of tomorrow. Freshmen Exploratory gives students the opportunity to explore a variety of fields such as Drafting, Metals, Electricity, and Power classes. The use of basic tools and techniques are learned as students progress through the program. A woods class is affered at the beginning of the sophamore year. P.E. is required not only to keep young people in shape but to expose them to a great variety of sports. Here the individual is encouraged to express himself in everything from modern dance to wrestling. The types of activities are remarkably similar as girls and guys participate in many of the same sports. Co-ed dancing is "enjoyed" by all as the students hover on opposite sides of the gym, warily sizing each other up. Opening the season with the Prologue Concert, Master Chair combined efforts with the Concert Orchestra. The Choraliers and the Concert Choir gave their first performance at the Tazewell County Choral Festival, Then came the Christmas Vespers Concert with plenty of time in between to prepare for the Mid State Nine Choral and Orchestra Festival. Again working with the Orchestra, Master Choir gave a concert at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Peoria, Although the Senior Recogni tion or Spring Concert was the last full concert, Moster Choir ended another hectic year by singing at the Baccalaureate Ceromonies

In between concerts all choir members were kept busy with M&M sales and helping at the Madrigal Dinners and Spaghetti Supper. Although time consuming effort was put into their concerts throughout the year, Choir members found it difficult performing before critical judges at solo, ensemble, and organization contest. For their last project the chair released their tensions from the heavy scheduled year at their annual party

In the Clutch #1

In the clutch the Red Raiders were number 1. The Raiders came through in mony instances to get that important game winning run in the late innings. Depth at every position may be the secret to a winning team; that would prove to be right at East Peoria. Pitching, a valuable asset to any team, was strong this year with returning lettermen Terry Jones, Dave Smith, Bill Soloman, and Jim White leading the Raiders. Some of their success may have come from new pitching Coach Fumogalli, a pitcher in callege. A plus for the Raiders this year came from underclassmen able to come through at the right time. With only five seniors on this year's team, the Raiders can look for even a more experienced team next year.

Serior Jim White worms up before a game. Jim was one all the pitchers on the strong Red Raider staff.

Raiders Make a Lot of Racket

The Raiders teturned to the court this year with over half of the team being lettermen from last year's team. This means that the Raiders were well experienced this year, The top senior for the Raiders was Steve Applegate, playing first man constantly, followed respectively by No. 2 man Jon Sams and No. 3, Mark Wasson

The varsity had another new look this season with new coach Koch. Coach Koch was the coach of the Junior Varsity last year. The Raiders looked superb many times, especially against Manual in which they won 9-0 and each player almost shut out their opponent.

Successfulness was achieved by the Junior Varsity this year. The young Raiders were guided by new head Coach Kraut, his first year at East Peoria. The Raiders were led by a large group of sophomores which by next year should be ready for the varsity level. Their hustle overcome the mistakes they made. With twelve members on the team, the first nine positions were constantly being fought over with challenge matches. The team can be proud of their season.

With strategy being a key role in wrestling, a wrestler must be always thinking. When he has his move planned out, he must execute it with much quickness. If his move fails he must start the whole process over again. The Raiders proved successful by finishing way ahead. Coach Kahn was extremely proud of his freshmen for the lack of numbers he had on his squad. The sophomores finished very well, also losing some wrestlers to the varsity. Both cooches look forward to an even better year next year for these young men.

Who's who? Well the one on top is one of our own Raiders getting ready to take control of the situation.

The two mile relay is a very demanding race. Steve Harrison keeps the pace going for East Peona during a dual meet against the Limestone Rockets.

Tim Halbecker is one of the hard working distance runners who under the guidance of Coach Ed McGraw, added needed points to the overall scoring in the meets.

Anthony Laredo concentrates on his pace for the long distance that he has yet to run. Laredo is one of the long distance runners who added greatly to the success of the East Peario track team.

Track Team Off and Running

The Junior Varsity Track team ended the season 6 and 4. Hard work and practice paid-off for the young team. Some of the runners ran against the Varsity during meets, and gained valuable experience. Cooches Hartter, Beckman, McGraw, and Newton advised the team on new methods and styles to improve their performances. The J.V.'s are ready to take the place of the seniors on the Varsity and continue the East Pearia tradition of a good track team.

J.V. Looking Good

The Junior Varsity Red Raiders proved to be a formidable apparent in the MS-Nine. The sophomores had five players that played at the varsity level regularly. Both teams showed a lot of depth in the field and at bat. Coach Gottwald and Coach Tratter praise their teams highly.

Don Meyer proved to have the hot bat for the Raiders hitting several home runs for the varsity. Good weather helped the Raiders practice early which prepared them well ahead of that first game. The Raiders can look forward to a bright future when they reach the varsity level.

Girls Softball Pulls a Fast One

Having played together for two years in Lassie League or in the school league helped this year's team to a winning season. The season started early and the team won all their early games. A new addition to the roster was a State Tournament held at Pekin. Gaylo Winter was the pitcher for the team and known for her speed and aggressive play on the mound. Cheryl Buss played short-stop and was an outstanding batter for the mighty Raiders. The team had both a tough infield and outfield and because they were such a well-rounded team they had a winning season.

Seniors Lead Winning

The Varsity girls' basketball team was led by eight outstanding seniors: Kathy Glynn, Jean Callow, Gayla Winter, Carrie Fisher, Debbie Tittle, Linda Therkildsen, Joan Mooberry and Chris Shirk. The team which has played together for two years earned fourth place in the conference and in the tournament also. Jeanette Ulick, a junior, was a great asset to the team. Usually she was one of the top scorers. The season started off a little slow because of "volleyball lag" which affected six of the players. The scheduling was such the volleyball wasn't over until basketball had started, making it difficult to convert to the new sport. But the season ended better; they were only beaten by the powerful Central, Richwoods and Limestone, in MS9

First Year for Track

EP 40

The girl's track team did well against the formidable MS9 teams in their first year of competing in the sport. East Peana was well in the shadow of the Peoria schools because many runners on their team run for the Peoria Pacettes, East Peoria held their own against these tough apponents. Seniors helped the preliminaries team to many of its victories and helped the underclassmen on the team to improve their strides and form. The team looks forward to next year and a year of experience under their belts.

The Suicides Payed-Off

After running endless hours of suicides (a form of wind sprint) the J.V. basketball team ended the season 9-4. The running really payed-off because their defense was the best in the MS9 Coached by Hendryx, the team learned the strategies which makes EP one of the best girls basketball schools in the MS9. Juniors Gail Dubos and Melynda French provide the rebounding power for the EP team. The scoring power was provided by Triso Murphy and Sylvia Quast. JVs are really ready to take over.

At one time or another we were all freshmen, looking towards the upcoming four years as if they would lost for an eternity. Then as sophomores we were relieved of the fact that we were no longer freshmen. Thus, we began buckling down and grabbing the bull by the horns, preparing for the remainder of our high school career. By our junior year, we had shaken off the inhibitions caused by having been an underclass man. We were also more aware of the fact that in a year we would be wise-ald seniors. # FRESH

Freshmen looked bewildered as they wandered through the maze of strange hallways an their first day at E.P.C.H.S. They soon adapted to high school life as assemblies were held to encourage them to participate in the school's many activities. These underclassmen began to show their real initiative in raising money for their class by selling Bicentennial candles.

Photographer John "The Male" McCutcher catches Cheryl Komarer in an uninspired mood after school in the commons.

Through active co-operation and hard work the sophomore class concluded a productive school year, taking part in Homecoming by selling the mums and entering an original float in the parade. They showed that they were ready for new and varied challenges and took advantage of the many opportunities available to them.

Displaying intense desire for the ancient art of square dancing, Lari Baumgartner and Kevin Clark premenade their traubles away.

During their last year of high school, seniors discover that numerous decisions must be made concerning their futures. Decisions regarding callege, jobs, and careers require a lat of consideration to determine what each individual will choose to do after graduation.

The class of '76 added a touch of distinction to their graduation as the men wore blue gowns, the women wore the traditional white, and the bicentennial colors were brought out in their martarboard tassels and medallion worn around the neck.

The hard work each senior has put into his education will begin paying off for him as he steps outside the high school realm of thinking and enters different phases of the "real" world, where he finds that his schedule is no longer programmed by a computer.

Even though remembrances of their high school years will bring back solemn "memories, sweetened through the ages just like wine," the new graduates will look forward to new and different apportunities and experiences.

The Final Link in the Chain of Events

Do you remember?

Whether your first day of school was sad or happy, as you look back on it, there is one thing about it that's true. The good times always seem to outnumber the bad times

There is nothing we can do about time except to see that it passes productively. It stores the memory of what we used to be and what we can be as the months go by. Making the most of every day as if it were the last one is only the beginning of the purpose of living life just one minute at a time

Parting Shots

Mid all the traffic of the ways, make in my heart a quiet place, where I may find myself. In the after-school scramble, students make their way to their lockers through the crawded ambulatory.

Only to have made an effort is worth the struggle. 'Receiving recognition for her participation and scholastic achievement. Linda Jahnson races to the stage upon becoming a member of the National Honor Society. Forty six graduates from the class of 76 were added to the National Honor Society.

What power can restore the moment that has passed or the day whose sun has set?" As part of his daily routine, a custodian lowers the Rag after school, nearing the end of another day

"We can do it if we will." Two Raiderettes prove that if you're really determined to get where you're going, nothing can stop you.

Take Time To Read: it is the source of wisdom. Take Time To Think: it is a source of power. Take Time To Be Friendly: it is the way to happiness. Take Time To Laugh: it is the music of the soul.
